BOB WHITE IS IN COUNTY JAIL

Young Englishman Says he would have Committed Suicide Had he Known of Charge Preferred against him. Wants Few Callers.

"Bob" White is in the Adams County jail. Chief of Police Emmons arrived in Gettysburg on his return from Chicago this morning and at once turned his prisoner over to Sheriff Thompson. Mr. Emmons desiring to avoid any demonstration took his prisoner off the train at Biglerville where he was met by William J. Eden with his automobile and the final eight miles of the trip was made in the machine. Few persons knew anything about the expected arrival of the now famous young Englishman and he was gotten into jail without any undue excitement. The trip from Chicago was made without any special incident.

Not long after the fellow reached the jail several ladies with whom he was acquainted called and asked admittance to the corridor. One of them shook hands with him but he quickly turned his head, refused to meet the other, and then asked that no other people be allowed to see him with the possible exception of Mr. Reaser who went his surety for the purchase of the Marathon car which White later sold, and from whom White is alleged to have stolen the tools for the larceny of which he is now held. Mr. Reaser had been White's chief friend and counsellor and the boy evidently counts on further favors from him.

In discussing his plight, White said that he gave himself up in Chicago believing that there was no charge on which he could be held and that if he had known about the larceny charge he would have committed suicide. The watch which he was loaned by Mrs. Haner, with whom he boarded, White said he pawned at a town near Philadelphia, as well as a ring which he was given by a friend in Gettysburg.

The hearing on the charge of larceny preferred against White by County Detective Charles H. Wilson has not yet been arranged for.

SLEEPING MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Fatal Accident Near Gettysburg on Saturday Evening in which Robert Lochbaum, of Orrtanna, is Killed Instantly.

Struck by a heavy Western Maryland freight train as he lay sleeping on the railroad tracks two miles east of town, Robert Lochbaum, of Orrtanna, was instantly killed a few minutes before five o'clock Saturday evening.

Lochbaum, who was a married man about twenty five years old, had appeared at the local Western Maryland station where he asked for a ticket to Orrtanna. He was intoxicated at the time and the agent refused to sell to him. When the 3:10 backed up for its trip to Baltimore Lochbaum got on and a few minutes after the train left Gettysburg Conductor Maurath asked him for his ticket. He said he had none but wanted to go to Seven Stars.

"You're on the wrong train for that," the conductor said, "I'll put you off at Granite and if you wait there you can get the evening train home".

Lochbaum was accordingly put off the train at the first station east of Gettysburg but, instead of waiting there for the train west, he started to walk on the track to Gettysburg. He had gone about half the distance when he evidently became weary and lay down on the tracks to sleep.

A few minutes before five o'clock the local freight 311 running down the heavy grade east of White's cut came around the curve with great speed, the twenty loads and eight empties making impossible the stopping of the train within a short distance. When Engineer Powell saw the prostrate form of the man on the track he put on the brakes and blew his whistle repeatedly, but the poor fellow was sound asleep and knew nothing of his approaching doom.

The heavy 600 engine did not toss him from the track but went over him and as soon as the train was stopped Conductor Brown ordered the car parted so that his mangled form could be gotten out. He was dead when the trainmen reached him, having received numerous injuries, any one of which would have caused his death.

His neck was broken, his chest caved in, the skull was broken at several places, one arm was off about four inches from the shoulder, and another was hanging by a few shreds of skin, one of his legs was cut off near the hip and a portion of the other foot was cut off.

Coroner Woomer, of Cashtown, was notified of the accident and he visited the scene. After viewing the body he declared that he regarded no inquest necessary as the cause of the man's death was perfectly apparent. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Garlach and on Sunday afternoon the funeral was held at Flohr's Church. It was largely attended.

The dead man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lochbaum. His mother lived with him, but his father has been dead for some time. He leaves his wife, who before marriage was Miss Cora Fissel, a daughter of Samuel Fissel, of Orrtanna. They were married a little over a year ago and have a young daughter, Margaret.

Mr. Lochbaum also leaves the following brothers and sisters, Andrew Lochbaum and Lawrence Lochbaum, of near Orrtanna; two sisters, Mrs. Blanche Spence and Mrs. John Walter, of Orrtanna; two step brothers, Albert and John Lochbaum, of near Orrtanna, and one step-sister, Mrs. Annie Weikert, of near Cashtown.

COMING OFFICERS VISIT THE FIELD

West Point Seniors Visit Gettysburg to Make Technical Study of the Conduct of the Battle. On Three Days' Tour.

Sixty three members of the graduating class of the United States Military Academy at West Point, with six officers, arrived in Gettysburg at four o'clock this morning for the annual technical study of the battle-field and the conduct of the fight here fifty years ago.

The following officers were with the party, Colonel G. J. Licken, Captains W. O. Johnson, E. L. Daley, Will C. Jones, Dan I. Sultan and Frederick B. Downing. Colonel Fieberger, who for years has accompanied the cadets on their Gettysburg trip, and who has many friends here, was unable to be with them because of a broken leg with which he has been suffering for some weeks and which has not yet mended sufficiently to allow his making the trip.

The journey from the Point was started about seven o'clock Sunday evening and the special train arrived here at four o'clock. The cadets detrained at half past six and went to their hotels, the Gettysburg and the Eagle, where they had breakfast.

At eight o'clock the first study of the field was commenced. They divided into four parties, taking as many different parts of the battlefield. During their stay here all will see every important section of the field and will unite for a final lecture at the Angle.

An effort, which promises to be successful, is being made to have the usual game of base ball with the Gettysburg College nine at half past four o'clock this afternoon. The game in other years was played on the second day of the cadets' stay but the Pittsburgh game, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, prevented this being done this year.

The return trip to West Point will be started, according to present plans, at 8:30 Tuesday evening. Instead of going directly home a portion of Wednesday will be spent in an inspection of the Frankford Arsenal, near Philadelphia, the arrival at the Point being scheduled for 5:30 Wednesday evening.

GENERAL SICKLES TAKEN BY DEATH

General Daniel Edgar Sickles was the last of the great commanders who fought the battle of Gettysburg. For a decade he was a fighter by profession—all his life he was a fighter by nature. The gruff old warrior with one leg shot away in battle, his massive head resembling Bismarck's was a picturesque figure as he hobbled along on crutches during the last half century of his turbulent life.

His indomitable fighting spirit remained to the last. Born in New York City in 1825, Sickles, at the age of 22, fought the Whigs as a Democrat in the New York legislature. At 28, he displayed his fighting spirit as corporation attorney of New York. It was he who secured for his city its great Central Park. At this time his military career began as major of the Twelfth Regiment, National Guard, New York.

Before he was 32 years old, Major Sickles had served as secretary of legation at London under Minister James Buchanan; he had won a state senatorship through a bitter campaign, and he was seated in the Thirty-fifth Congress at Washington.

It was at this time that an even-occurred which became the sensation of the day. Sickles had begun his second term as congressman in 1859 when the national capital was stirred by the news that the young representative from New York had shot and killed Philip Barton Key, the United States district attorney for the District of Columbia. Sickles declared that Key had misled Mrs. Sickles, who was Therese Baglioli, daughter of an Italian music teacher. The trial lasted 20 days, ending in the acquittal of Sickles on the ground of "unwritten law." He then took his erring wife back.

Mrs. Sickles died of a broken heart a few years later.

At the outbreak of the Civil War the young fighting politician, then 36 years old, went to Lincoln to offer his services.

Sickles raised the famous Excelsior Brigade in New York, taking command of one of its regiments as colonel. Lincoln in 1861 raised him to brigadier general. His fighting spirit early won him spurs. At Gettysburg he led the Third Corps, and lost a leg. At 37 years of age he had risen from a colonel to a major general of volunteers.

After the war his fighting spirit led him into the regular army and he became first brigadier and then major general. He continued in active service until 1869, when he was appointed minister to Spain by President Grant.

At the court of Spain Sickles' vigorous personality made him a dominating figure. Four years of brilliant diplomacy brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain." Here he contracted his second marriage with the beautiful and distinguished Senorita Creagh. This romance was followed by estrangement which was to last more than a quarter century. In addition to this domestic trouble came his interference in the marriage plans of his daughter to a penniless Spanish nobleman. Father and daughter separated in bitterness, the latter to return to the United States to die without reconciliation.

Returning alone to New York, General Sickles again entered politics. He served as sheriff of New York and at 67 he was re-elected to Congress. General Sickles' life drew to a close with frequent romantic situations. He faced bankruptcy proceedings in his last years, though he had early in life received a large share of his father's $3,000,000 estate, but the estranged wife and son came to his aid on several occasions. His last days were spent at 23 Fifth avenue, New York.

ARRESTED FOR BAR ROOM BRAWL

Klinefelter's Cafe on Carlisle street was the scene of an ugly fight Saturday evening when the two Criswell boys, James and Otis, engaged in an altercation with Mr. Klinefelter, the proprietor.

They were placed in the jail and secured their release this morning by paying the costs amounting to $10.43, and by promising not to frequent the Klinefelter place in the future.

James Criswell, it is said, entered the cafe when he was partially under the influence of liquor, and started to call Mr. Klinefelter vile names. The proprietor resented it and threatened to put him out whereat Criswell said he would like to see the man who could throw him out. Klinefelter caught him and succeeded in getting him to the street but only after the large glass in the front window was broken.

Otis Criswell, the brother, was in the second floor dining room while this was going on, and, hearing the racket, hurried down and started in to help his brother. The fight continued on the outside stairway and another window was broken in the melee.

Officers Shearer and Wilson arrived on the scene and, with Mr. Klinefelter and George B. Aughinbaugh, put both the trouble makers under arrest, taking them up to the jail while a crowd of several hundred people followed.

HELD PARADE

College Boys Overlook Base Ball Defeat and Celebrate Victories.

The college boys held a parade through the streets of town Saturday night headed by their band. Most of them were in "evening clothes" and the procession attracted attention for he few minutes intervening between the other exciting events of the evening. The parade was in celebration of victory over Dickinson in the track meet on Nixon Field Saturday afternoon and also in celebration of the recent base ball victories.

The track meet was one of the best events of the sort held here in recent years. A number of local track records were broken and all the events were closely contested. Gettysburg won by the score of 70 to 56.

The base ball team met its first defeat at the hands of Villanova at that institution on Saturday. Hoar pitched well for Gettysburg but lost 3 to 0. This defeat did not deter the students from holding their parade, the seven straight victories being of sufficient importance to outweigh the one defeat.

The High School base ball team lost to the Mechanicsburg High School team on the Kurtz Playground Saturday afternoon by the score of 10 to 3.

MISS EVALINE M. ROWE

Died on Sunday at her Home on South Washington Street.

She was a daughter of William and Hannah (Hoffman) Rowe, and was born in Emmitsburg July 30, 1826. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Hannah Norbeck, at home.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at nine o'clock from her late home on Washington street, Rev. J. B. Baker officiating. Interment in the Lutheran Cemetery at Emmitsburg.

SAY HUERTA

IS READY

TO QUIT

He Will Resign if Protected.

FEARS FOR HIS SAFETY

Dictator Seeks Safe Conduct to Foreign Warship.

POPULACE FORCES DECISION

The Resignation of Foreign Minister. Rojas and the Fake Reports of Victory Arouse the Residents of Mexico City.

Vera Cruz, May 4.—Persistent reports continue to circulate here that General Huerta intends to retire from the provisional presidency of Mexico on condition that he be assured a safe conduct to a port and placed on board a foreign warship.

It is declared in some Mexican circles in Vera Cruz that General Huerta was ready to resign a week ago, but was prevented from doing so by internal dissensions in his cabinet.

The disappearance from the Mexican cabinet of Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, the foreign minister, coupled with reports that there is a growing undercurrent of feeling in Mexico City against the Huerta government, is interpreted as foreshadowing a change in the situation in the federal capital.

Some of the closest observers of the government's situation express an inclination to the view that Senor Portillo's resignation may clear the way eventually for the appointment of a foreign minister, who, under the Mexican constitution, could succeed General Huerta as president. In these circles it is pointed out that while Venustiano Carranza declined to treat with General Huerta he might consent to enter into negotiations with his successor and thus facilitate mediation.

The effect of the continued rebel successes in the north and the outcome of the pending attack on Tampico may, according to a well informed opinion, bring about a rapid change in Mexico City.

While the Federal capital was reported quiet, people who arrived from the seat of government declared that the populace there was beginning to learn that General Huerta had been deceiving the people all the time by issuing false reports of Federal successes over the Constitutionists.

The news of the peaceful way in which the Americans are occupying Vera Cruz, it is said, had spread to the capital and had convinced Mexicans there that the American invasion of the port is not for conquest or aggression.

Refugees declare that the inhabitants of the capital fear the coming there of Francisco Villa more than that of the American troops.

The elements in Mexico City which cling to the memory of the late President Francisco I. Madero are reported to have been incensed by the arrest of some of the deputies who were formerly cast into jail on charges of conspiracy.

MEDIATION GOES FORWARD

The Envoys Await Appointment of Peace Conference.

Washington, May 4.—The mediation plans of the South American envoys who are trying to straighten out the troubled affairs of Mexico went steadily forward.

The United States, the Huerta government and General Carranza are expected to name their delegates, as requested by the mediators, within the next day or two.

The delegate for the United States has not yet been selected, but it became known that it would not be one of the officials closely identified with the government.

As the three South American envoys are accredited to the United States, this government does not wish to name a government official to deal with them, but to have an outsider who would deal with them without reference to their official relations to the United States.

This has eliminated Robert L. Lansing, counselor of the state department, and in general all other government officials. To the names of John Bassett Moore and John Lind and Henry White, already mentioned, are now added those of Richard Olney, former secretary of state; Dr. David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany, and Hannis Taylor, former minister to Spain.

The Huerta delegate is expected to be Francisco de la Barra, now Mexican Minister at Paris, but nothing definite has been heard from Mexico City.

Rafael Zubaran, personal representative of General Carranza, who arrived Saturday, is available as a delegate.

state, although his particular purpose in coming from Carranza is still to be announced, and it is not yet definite that Carranza will go to the extent of naming a delegate to deal with the mediators.

It became definitely established that General Carranza would not agree to the request of the mediators that he suspend military operations against Huerta pending the mediation proceedings, and the envoys have been advised of this decision.

Close associates of Carranza who have arrived in Washington recently said that no mediation between them and Huerta is possible, and that any move on the part of the three mediators to include in their program a scheme for the general adjustment of Mexican affairs will be regarded as being outside the scope of their labors.

Meanwhile the campaign against the Huerta forces in the north is proceeding full force, the mediation work not being considered by the Constitutionists as having any bearing on the relations between Huerta and himself.

The march on Mexico City, according to those near Carranza, is to be undertaken as soon as military operations in the north will permit.

Carranza's refusal of an armistice between him and Huerta is the first adverse reply the mediators have received. On the other hand, favorable comment is made in circles close to the envoys upon the amenability that Huerta has shown.

AMERICAN DYING IN FILTHY REBEL JAIL

Repeated Demands For Trial Received With Jeers.

Nogales, Ariz., May 4.—James Byington, an American imprisoned nine months at Cupmas, Sonora, Mexico, without a trial, is slowly dying of neglect, the information brought here by refugees.

As a result a protest was sent to the Constitutionalist authorities at Cupmas, demanding the release of Byington.

According to Americans, who have been aroused by what they describe as cruelties inflicted on Byington, former protests against his long imprisonment, without a trial, have been received with jeers by the Constitutionalist chiefs.

Byington, who is an old man and a native of Boise, Idaho, is said to be losing his mind. The latest representations to the Mexican authorities state that it apparently is not the intention to give him a trial, and ask that he be set at liberty.

The charge against Byington, upon which it is said he had been imprisoned without trial since Aug. 9, 1913, involves a shipment of ore from a mining claim.

The refugees report that the American is confined in a dark adobe cell, surrounded by filth and vermin, clad in rags and half starved. They allege that the prison officials refuse to permit him to receive food sent by sympathetic Americans, and that the prisoner in consequence of his treatment and surroundings is rapidly losing his mind.

It is said he located a mine claim near Cupmas, and on the assumption that papers legalizing his claim were on the way from Mexico City, prepared a car of ore for shipment. He was arrested on a charge that he had not established his claim.

The judge at Cupmas in denying Byington an immediate trial, is said to have declared it was necessary to ascertain the value of the ore. This, it is said, has not been done, but the amount is less than $300.

German Marines Protect Americans. Vera Cruz, May 4.—W. W. The German sailors escorted American refugees to the German warship in the port, whence they will be transferred to an American vessel later on.

SEEK TO JAIL MILITIA HEADS

Responsible For Deaths in Colorado Mine War.

MAY IMPEACH GOV. AMMON

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Is Accused of Preventing Peace and Trying to Shift Responsibility.

Washington, May 4.—The arrest and imprisonment of the militia heads declared responsible for the deaths of women and children in the Colorado strike horrors is regarded as the logical outcome of the findings of the coroner's jury and the statement of Secretary of War Garrison, which, based on the findings of federal officers, declares the state troops committed excesses and had made conditions worse instead of better in the strike districts.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict holding the state militia and the mine guards responsible for the deaths of the two women and fourteen children in the Ludlow tent colony.

As a result of the burning of the colony and the resultant cremation of helpless non-combatants, it is expected that criminal actions will be lodged against Major Hamrock and Lieutenant Linderfelt, of the Colorado state militia.

Members of the Colorado state legislature openly threaten to impeach Governor Ammons for his seeming acquiescence in the outrages perpetrated by the troops under his command.

Indignation against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., already at fever heat, has been greatly increased by the publication of copies of telegraphic correspondence between that individual and Chairman Foster, of the house committee on mines and mining. In this correspondence Rockefeller refuses to accept arbitration and tries to shift the responsibility.

Rockefeller's attitude throughout the whole terrible situation has deeply incensed the federal authorities, and the latter are determined to exert pressure to force a settlement.

According to reports from Colorado the president's proclamation calling for the laying down of arms is being obeyed throughout the strike zone.

Two more troops of United States cavalry are already on their way to Colorado from Fort Robinson, Neb.

Tent Erected at White House For His Use During Summer.

Washington, May 4.—In anticipation of a strenuous summer the president has made arrangements for a big open air tent, just south of the White House, where he will transact business.

The White House tent will be equipped with a telephone, push buttons, electric lights and other conveniences. It will be the headquarters of the president in the afternoons and evenings, and probably Secretary Tumulty will have his desk there.

While the president is in good health, Dr. Carey Grayson, his physician, advised that he remain in the open air as much as possible, and for this reason the offices in the tent were planned. The president will not sleep in the tent.

He also asked Governor Colquitt to withdraw 125 artillerymen of the militia, in which event he would replace them by regular artillery.

MEXICO MOB KILLS WOMAN

German Lady Mistaken For American Maltreated to Death.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 4.—That Mrs. Clara Beckmeyer, a German woman, who, according to rumor, was mistaken for an American, was killed by a mob in the streets of Mexico City on April 27, is the news brought by refugees from the Federal capital. No confirmation of the incident has been received here.

Mrs. Beckmeyer was a widow of three months. She wore at her collar a small silk German flag, but the mob, regarding this merely as a flimsy disguise of nationality, is said to have dragged her through the streets, and so maltreated her that she died.

Saloon Fire Kills Three.

Denver, Colo., May 4.—Three men were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Watts saloon and boarding house at the Oak Creek mine in Routt county, according to reports received at the governor's office. The dead are Robert Doggett, Jack Snow and an unidentified man. It was reported to the governor that oil had been poured over the front and back doors of the place, which was frequented by non-union men.

More than 4,500,000 gray squirrels were killed last year in Siberia for their fur. The tails alone weighed more than twenty-one tons. The animal figuring next in the fur trade of Asiatic Russia in point of numbers was the white hare, which contributed 1,500,000 skins.

The presence of seals in the lower Columbia river in unusual numbers this spring is considered the best evidence by the salmon packing interests that the catch of fish will be large. For the seals show up in the river only when the fish are plentiful.

One who has tried it recommends giving the calf afflicted with scours two eggs well beaten, or as much of it as can be got down the animal's throat. The dose should be repeated in from six to ten hours if necessary. This simple remedy is said to effect a complete cure.

The last place on the farm where it is wise to practice so called economy is in the matter of seed for the several crops. The best seed obtainable is none too good. Seed that costs little is usually not only weak in germinating power, but is often adulterated with weed seeds and trash.

This is the season of the year when quite a lot of fellows are having the time of their lives escaping the efforts of their friends to induce them to run for some office. This situation is most trying, sometimes robs a fellow of meals and sleep and is calculated to impose a severe strain on one's nervous system.

In the northern part of the corn belt, whose limits have been pushed farther and farther north in the past twenty years, types of field corn have been developed that mature within the growing season and give good yields per acre. Among these Wisconsin No. 8, Minnesota No. 13 and Pride of the North are most highly recommended.

Figures compiled by the geological survey show that the volume of saline matter in the ocean is a little more than 4,800,000 cubic miles, or enough to cover the entire United States, exclusive of Alaska, to the depth of 14 miles. Another interesting calculation is that 1 per cent of the contents of the oceans would cover all the land areas of the globe to the depth of 230 feet.

In all discussions of better roads it is well to keep constantly in mind the fact that the country dweller, whether as a user of the road with a light vehicle or with wagons loaded with farm produce, is the chief sufferer from bad roads and the chief beneficiary of improved highways. This being so, it comes about that in the construction of better roads the farmer must bear his fair part of the expense.

A girl in a blue Mother Hubbard apron vigorously operating a washboard in correct Sebastian fashion was one of the interesting features of the recent graduating exercises of the Minnesota School of Agriculture at St. Anthony's Park. If more girls operated washboards and fingers on the stage at commencement time and fewer wore dainty gowns and lingerie, in all too many cases made, washed and ironed by their mothers, this old world would be a good deal more happy and peaceful place in which to live.

WANTS SLAYERS GIVEN TO SCIENCE

"CRUELTY" TO BE BARRED

Startling Proposition Is Advanced at Session of the Jurisprudence Society in New York.

New York, May 4.—As a substitute for the death penalty it was proposed at the meeting of the American Association of Medical Jurisprudence that criminals who had been convicted of capital offenses expiate them by being subjected to experimentation.

The author of the paper, John S. Durand, lawyer, proposes that the various experiments which are being performed on animals in institutions of research be made on human beings. He says that he does not mean vivisection, yet in his paper he specifies various experiments in the study of blood and tissue and in the administration of drugs and the different kinds of serum, such as used on cats and dogs.

The paper produced a profound impression. The speaker said that the object of modern criminal statutes was deterrent rather than punitive.

"In present conditions," he said, "when society forfeits the life of a criminal he is put to death usually by hanging or electricity, and much of great value has been learned from the deaths by electric currents of high voltage upon the human system. There is an almost limitless field of research in the effect of various medicines on the human body and in the possibilities of so controlling its functions that operations now considered impossible of performance may become a matter of every day happening. Great strides have been made in surgery."

Mr. Durand referred to the experiments of Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, who says he has stopped the beating of the heart of a dog for two and a half minutes without trouble following.

"And yet," he said, "there has been no opportunity to test the method on man."

"How much more scientific it would be instead of blotting out a life that is forfeit to the state, to utilize that life in the interest of science and for the purpose of assisting man in his fight against disease and for the relief of human suffering."

"When we speak of punishment we make differentiations between cruelty which is wanton and the infliction of suffering for a justifiable end. Under the scheme suggested, there need not be nor should anything be allowed to be done calculated to inflict any real suffering."

TWO HURT IN STRIKE RIOT

Crowds and Deputies Clash at Freeland, Pa., When New Crews Take Charge.

Hazleton, Pa., May 4.—Serious trouble occurred at Freeland over the running of cars by the Lehigh Traction company with crews who have taken the places of the striking motormen and conductors.

Two bystanders were wounded when crowds and sheriff's deputies and friends of the crews clashed. John Gallagher was struck in the right knee by a bullet, said to have been fired by a deputy. The wound is not dangerous.

This incident inflamed the crowds and large assemblages were at the end of the line as the cars came and went. It is alleged that three foreigners, friends of the crews, opened fire on the crowd with revolvers. It is estimated that at least fifty shots were fired. Peter Tuddy, a bystander, was wounded in the abdomen, but the bullet merely grazed the flesh.

EXPRESS CO.'S HIT HARD

Incomes Drop 54 Per Cent in Six Months Owing to Parcel Post.

Chicago, May 4.—As a result of parcel post operations, eleven express companies, covering 392,759 miles of line, sustained a loss of 53.8 per cent in net operating income during the first six months of the current fiscal year.

This result is shown by figures of the interstate commerce commission analyzed by the bureau of railway news and statistics.

The figures afford the first official date from which the effect of the parcel post on express and railway revenues may be ascertained.

Payments to the railways for the six months showed a contraction of $1,722,971.

4968 Banks in Reserve System. Washington, May 4.—Advises to the treasury department indicate 4968 national banks have subscribed to the federal reserve banks in their respective districts. The increase was 213 banks and $818,721 in subscriptions. The total subscriptions of stock in reserve banks to date are $84,002,200.

ROBERT J. KERR.

Robert J. Kerr, appointed by Admiral Fletcher to the post of civil governor of Vera Cruz, has plunged into his new duties with ardor, according to a cablegram received by his father in Chicago, Samuel Kerr. Mr. Kerr's first work will be the bettering of sanitary conditions, especially in the prisons and dungeons of Vera Cruz, in which are confined numbers of prisoners. Some of the prisoners have been released, and others are being transferred to better quarters. The city officers at present holding office will not be changed, and Mexicans and Americans will be on the same footing under the municipal administration.

WAR VICTIMS' BODIES LEAVE MEXICO

Cruiser Montana Sails For New York.

Vera Cruz, May 4.—The armored cruiser Montana sailed for New York with the bodies of the marines and sailors who were killed after the American troops landed here two weeks ago.

All the bodies will be taken to New York, whence they will be shipped to the homes of the dead heroes. The Montana will be met by three battle ships, the Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts, either outside the Delaware Breakwater or off the New Jersey coast. The old battleships will then convey the Montana, with the nation's dead, to New York.

Rear Admiral Badger's fleet observed the sailing of the Montana in solemn fashion. The flags were all placed at half mast, the crew dressed ship and stood at attention, while the bands played dirges, as the Montana passed out. Afterward the officers of the ships and a great crowd of people from Vera Cruz attended a bullfight.

A number of street vendors and English signs are multiplying, showing that the natives are doing a thriving business.

TOWN NEARLY BURNED

Wilmington, Del., May 4.—Farmington, a small town about six-eight miles from this city, was almost destroyed by fire when the blaze, fanned by a brisk wind, burned seven dwellings, a basket factory and the Methodist Episcopal church, causing $30,000 damage. It is thought the fire was started by sparks from a locomotive.

The dwellings were owned by Mrs. Andrew Lloyd, George Holman, Peter Holloway, Priscilla Hatfield and William Murphy. The factory is owned by the Simmons Manufacturing company. The town has no fire protection.

Breaks Jail With Clarinet

Robinson, Ill., May 4.—For three nights John Griffin, a prisoner in the county jail, played a clarinet with much gusto until midnight. Saturday night the concert stopped and it was learned that Griffin and two other prisoners had escaped from the jail by sawing through the jail bars. The sawing is said to have been done while Griffin drowned the noise with his clarinet solos.

SHE FINISHED THE STORY.

Gladstone Couldn't Whistle, but His Wife Could and Did.

Apparently the powers of Mr. Gladstone as a whistler were somewhat limited, judging by the amusing story told by the Rev. T. Selby Henrey in "Attie Salt." Mr. Gladstone and Dean Wellesley were schoolfellows at Eton, and the friendship there commenced continued throughout life. When they were both in the sixties they met at a little dinner party at the deanery at Windsor, and the great statesman jocularly said across the table to the dean:

"I say, old friend, I have got a good story for you about Harry Phillips, Bishop of Exeter."

Upon which Mrs. Gladstone hastily interferred:

"William, you must not tell that story until the servants have left the room."

When the psychological moment arrived Mr. Gladstone said:

"You know, Wellesley, that Bishop Phillips during his old age acquired the habit of sitting up late at night, with his chaplain. Well, one night he was comfortably ensconced in his study chair, with feet against the mantelpiece, dreamily looking into the fire when he heard footsteps at the door and the noise of a dress behind him."

"Without looking up he said in a very endearing voice, thinking the intruder to be his wife, 'What can I do for you, my little darling?' To his great astonishment the trespasser proved to be not his wife, but his wife's maid. And the only way in which the poor bishop could give expression to his feelings was by a long drawn out, subdued whistle."

Mr. Gladstone at this juncture said, "I cannot manage the whistle, so I will ask Catherine to give it." And Mrs. Gladstone finished the story by giving the long drawn out whistle, to the delight not only of the dean, but also of all the guests.

THE RAGLAN SHOULDER A FEATURE OF THE LITTLE MAID'S SPORTS COAT.

The separate coat of light weight material, popularly known as the sports coat, is a general favorite both with the little maid and her grown-up sister. It may be of as bright a color as desired and still be in good taste. Wool, velours, golfines, cotton velvets and other similar materials are most generally used for these coats, although any coating material can be used to advantage if it is heavy enough not to require a lining.

These materials range in price from $1.50 a yard to $4; the average width is 42 inches.

No. 8132 is developed in rose colored wool velour with bone buttons of the same shade. The coat is cut with a raglan shoulder, is single breasted and has a convenient patch pocket on either side.

For a girl of 12 years this garment requires 2 yards of 54 inch material. The little lingerie frock shown in No. 8034 is fashioned of a dainty batiste flouncing; the skirt is arranged in tiered effect, eachounce being gathered slightly and set under the one above. There is a short, set-in sleeve, a gathered waist and a narrow belt of the same material as the frock.

This dress requires for a child of 8 years 2 1/2 yards of 24 inch material. No. 8132—sizes 6 to 14. No. 8034—sizes 6 to 12. Each pattern 15 cents.

Why Are You So Tired?

The Weather is Not to Blame for That "Dragged Out" Feeling.

"This weather simply takes the life right out of me, I can hardly drag one foot after the other," said a run-down, tired-out woman, the other day. We want to say to every such person in this vicinity: Don't blame the weather, it's your condition. You need a strengthening tonic and the very best we know is Vinol which is a combination of the two most world-famous tonics, namely, the medicinal, curative elements of cod liver oil and iron, for the blood.

A case has just come to our attention from Milford, Mich. "Mrs. Julia Barber says: 'I was run-down and hardly able to drag about; my appetite was poor and I was not able to work. My druggist asked me to try Vinol. The first bottle helped me and after taking the second bottle I was able to work and felt well and strong.' Vinol is the best medicine I have ever taken."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

Statements That May Be Investigated. Testimony of Gettysburg Citizens.

When a Gettysburg citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Gettysburg resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Mrs. J. Menchey, 46 Breckenridge street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Since I used and publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago I have had no further need of a kidney medicine. I never enjoyed very good health and when kidney complaint came on, it caused me much distress. I had pains in my back and frequently had dizzy spells and chills. When a friend told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at the People's Drug Store. This remedy acted promptly and before long, I was in good health."

A Happy Coincidence

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

During the second empire in France two country gentlemen, M. Recardier and M. Gallipeaux, met at the chateau of the former, and while discussing some fine old wine Gallipeaux said to his friend:

"Where is your son Louis?"

"Traveling."

"My daughter also is traveling. She will be at home for the autumn ball. It will be her entrance into society."

"My son will be at home about that time. I am looking forward to his coming with pleasant anticipations. He has not been here for ten years. When he was twelve years old I put him to school in Geneva. From there he passed to the university, and since then he has been traveling. But why did you ask about my son?"

"I will tell you. It would give me great pleasure and I should consider myself highly honored to unite our families in the marriage of these two young persons."

"Just what I have been thinking of for some time," replied the other.

"How old is your daughter?"

"Marie is twenty."

"And Louis is twenty-two."

It was then and there agreed that the youngsters should marry. That was a time when parents in France arranged marriages for their children.

When Louis Recardier returned to the paternal chateau his father met him at the door, and the two were locked in each other's arms. They chatted for some time, when the father said:

"Louis, it is now time that you settled down at home. I am getting lonely in my old age and want you with me. I desire also that you should bring a wife into the house and that I may have a grandchild in whom to be interested. I have arranged a match for you with the daughter of an old friend of mine, and it is expected that the marriage shall take place very soon."

The young man's face spoke plainly that this was unwelcome news to him. He made no reply for some time, and when he did it was quite a backset to his father.

"My dear father," he said, "I have always obeyed you and will continue to do so save in this one thing: the choice of a wife. I do not approve of our ancestral custom of parents choosing mates for their children. I am a believer in love and that marriages should be made for love."

"But my word has been pledged. To tell my friend that you will not marry his daughter would be an insult."

"Not since I have never seen her."

M. Recardier argued a long while with his son without effect. The young man had met a girl in his travels and had fallen in love with her. His father was wrapped up in him and would not break with him. A letter was dispatched to M. Gallipeaux announcing that the match must be abandoned. Naturally the latter was much incensed that his daughter should be refused and wrote his old friend a very curt reply.

Louis Recardier's falling in love was one of those cases where persons of opposite sex are drawn together at sight. Louis had attended the opera one evening at Milan, and in a box directly above him and so near him that he could almost touch her sat a young lady between whom and him came an instantaneous spark of love. Louis could not keep his eyes off her, and she, conscious that they were always upon her, gave him an occasional glance, while a faint blush and a restlessness of her fan showed that she was much affected. The next day Louis made an attempt to find the young lady, but was unable to do so. The reason of this was that she had departed early in the morning with a party with whom she was traveling. Louis had returned to France, being expected by his father, hoping to gain permission to set out again to find the girl with whom he had fallen in love at sight.

Not long after the arrival of young Recardier at home the autumn ball came off. Her father remembered that his friend, M. Gallipeaux, had told him that his daughter would be presented to the social world on that occasion, and having heard that Mlle. Gallipeaux was a very charming girl urged his son to attend the ball, hoping that meeting her there he might be attracted to her and the match might yet be brought about. Louis refused to go being satisfied with nothing but to set out again to find the girl who had enchanted him. Finally his father consented that he should depart, provided he would first attend the ball.

Louis agreed to the condition, attended the ball and was standing listlessly looking at the dancers when suddenly his heart came up into his throat. Who should sail by him in the dance but the girl he had seen at the opera at Milan!

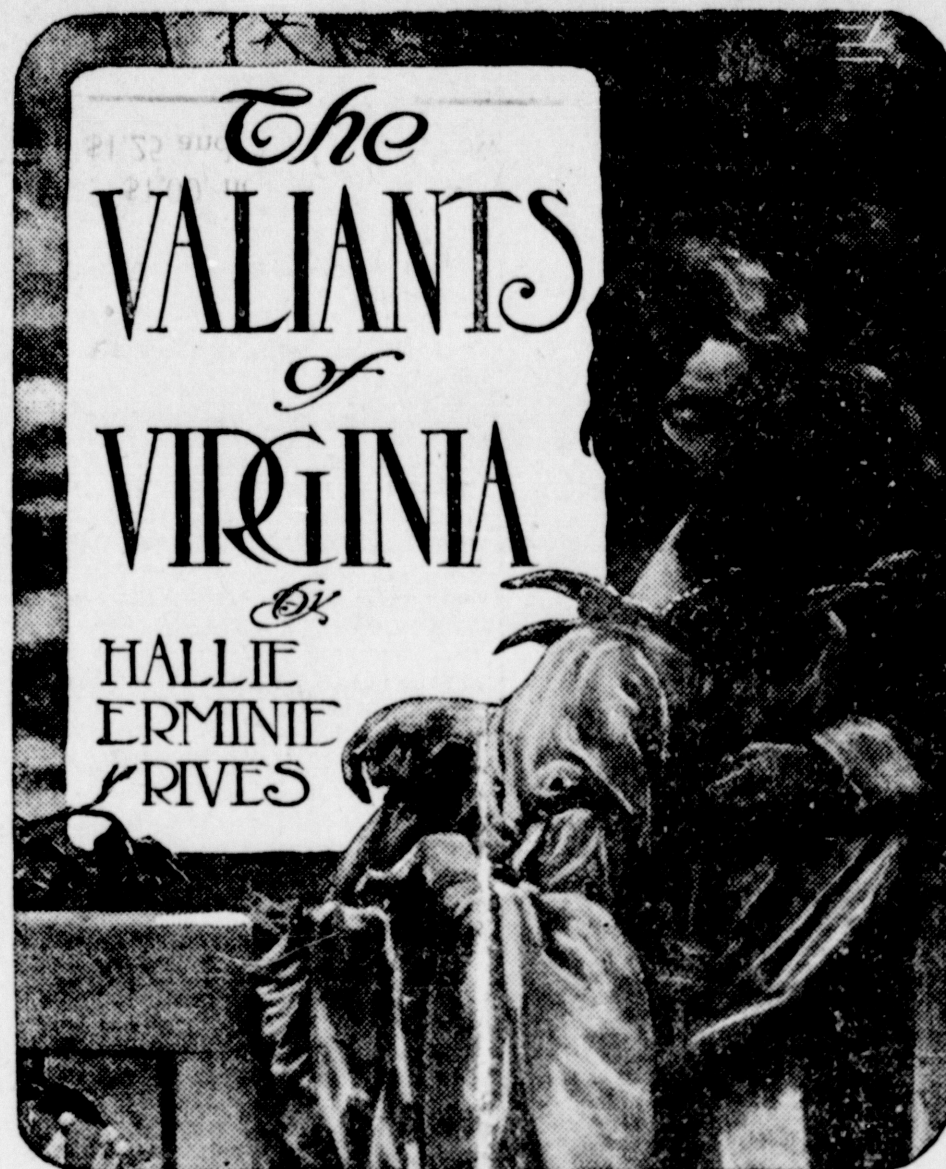

Louis lost no time in securing an introduction, and when he heard the words "Mlle. Gallipeaux" he paled. He had refused to marry the girl with whom he had fallen in love!

When M. Recardier was informed of the situation he ordered his carriage and drove at once to see his old friend M. Gallipeaux. He was coldly received, but when he explained the cause of his son's refusal and that Louis was wrapped up in Marie her father was soothed and consented that the marriage should take place at an early date.

Would Affect Many.

Thousands of excellent and really earnest philanthropists would be absolutely thrown upon the rates if we adopted the view that nobody should be allowed to meddle in what does not concern him.—Oscar Wilde.
